Introducing Horizon Collaborate

Communication has always been essential to the success of any business.

Today, more so than ever, your business needs to be agile to respond to customers quickly, day or night, and your employees need to be equipped to handle a constant flow of queries across multiple channels. In this new digital age we live in, faster response times can be a key differentiator, helping you stay ahead of the competition and stand out in a crowded market.

Whether internally collaborating with other employees or dealing externally with customers, your business would benefit from a fully unified ICT environment. By effectively connecting people, applications, clouds and networks, you can transform how quickly and efficiently information is shared, thereby satisfying your customers' increasing demands as well as improving employee productivity.

Horizon Collaborate from Gamma offers instant messaging, presence, voice, video, desktop / application sharing and document sharing. Driven through a set of end user applications for Windows, Mac, Android and iOS, it enables users to access business communications and collaboration services from their favourite devices - wherever they are.

Fully integrated with the award-winning Horizon hosted PBX service, Horizon Collaborate supports all the features and functionality of the telephony service for a true unified communications experience.

Boost business performance

How Collaborate can help your business

Improve the workplace experience

With the pressure on for businesses to appear always available to their customers, the technology provided to employees can make all the difference.

Employee engagement and satisfaction are vital parts of the employee experience and will have a knock-on effect to your customers. Collaborate works equally well on desktops, mobiles and tablets, so users will have their business communication system available wherever they are.

Streamline IT operations

Horizon Collaborate provides a range of business communication and collaboration tools, with an emphasis on control and personal administration through the portal removing the burden from your IT team.

Administrators can quickly configure the system according to your organisation's changing requirements, whilst employees can manage their communication environment easily through the desktop client and mobile app.

Attract the next generation of candidates

With millennials set to be the biggest generation in the workforce, providing the right technology that caters for the way they work is essential. Millennials expect technology to be fast, accessible and on-demand.

Reduce business costs and complexity

Through use of online tools such as Presence, Video Call and Collaboration, business travel is reduced. There is no time wasted switching between diverse apps, or waiting for co-workers to become available. Conversations are on topic and as efficient as possible. Your employees can work flexibly through hot-desking, home working or on the move.

Improve responsiveness

By providing enhanced communication tools that permit users to find the right person and work wherever they are, businesses can improve decision-making, customer interaction and overall efficiency.

The Collaborate experience

Your desktop display at-a-glance

The screenshot shows the Horizon Collaborate desktop application interface. It features a dark blue sidebar on the left and a main content area on the right. The sidebar includes sections for 'Availability, presence, status', 'Contact list', 'Call history', 'Chat history', 'Dialpad', and 'Contacts'. The main area shows a chat window with a contact named 'Rob Jones' and a message history. A callout 'My Room for conferencing' points to a window titled 'My Room (Owner)'. Another callout 'Live chat' points to the chat input area at the bottom. A callout 'Options and preferences' points to a gear icon in the bottom right corner of the sidebar.
